Giant George and the Robin

Over the bridge, there is a village. In the village, there is a lane. The goblins call it Gypsy Lane. In Gypsy Lane, there is a cottage. It's a large cottage. It's much too large for a goblin. But the cottage is too small for a giant. It's much too small for a giant like George.

Giant George is HUGE. He's so huge, he cannot get out. He's so huge, no one can get in. Giant George is trapped.

Then he sees a jolly robin in the hedgerow.

"I wish I could change into a jolly robin," says Giant George. "I would fly away."

The robin hops on to the ledge. Giant George scoops her up and says, "Robin, be my friend. Please have these seeds."

Giant George puts the robin in a cage. It's much too small for a robin.

"I'm trapped! Set me free!" says the robin.

"Will you be my friend?" asks Giant George.

"If you set me free," says the robin. "I'll be a friend to you."

"But how will you be my friend?" asks Giant George.

"Just set me free," says the robin, "and I'll show you."

Giant George lets the robin out. She pecks him gently on the cheek. How strange magic is! Giant George's wish comes true. He gets smaller and smaller until...

...he changes into a robin! He jumps out on to the hedge. He is free! Giant George flies away with his friend. Over the hedgerow and over the cottage. There they go! Down Gypsy Lane. Out of the village, over the bridge, and up into the sky.

Answer the questions:

1. Did Giant George's wish come true in the end?
2. What made the wish come true?

Mathematics: <https://www.bbc.co.uk/bitesize/topics/zni7hyc/articles/zkwwpg8> How can I use number patterns to work out a sequence?

What is a number sequence?

A number sequence is a list of numbers that is linked by a rule or pattern.

If you work out the rule, you can work out the next numbers or a missing number in the sequence.

The simplest number sequence is 1, 2, 3, 4, 5...and so on.

The rule is that you add 1 each time.

Here's another sequence. Can you spot the rule?

2, 4, 6, 8, 10...

The rule is that you add 2 each time. Did you spot that this sequence is the same as the 2 times table?

Sequences can go down as well as up. Can you spot the rule here?

50, 45, 40, 35, 30...

The rule is that you subtract 5 each time. Well done if you spotted that.
