Happy Monday year 2 children! We hope you had a lovely weekend!

Writing

This week, we're going to be thinking about the book The Day the Crayons Quit by Oliver Jeffers.

This is the front cover of the text.

Today we are making predictions. Write down what you think this book might be about. Remember to use the following language structures to help you speak and write in full sentences!

I predict...because...

I think...because...

Perhaps... because...

Writing

Here is an illustration from the text .

What can you see?

How do you think Red Crayon is feeling?

Why do you think this?

Language structures you can use:

I predict...because...

I think...because...

Perhaps... because...

Maths

This week, we're going to spend some time thinking about multiplication.

Today, we are going to practice counting in twos, threes, fives and tens using the daily lessons from BBC bitesize. You may need a grown up to help you with using the website and completing the activity.

Art:

Some of you might be waking up very early at the moment because it's the start of Ramadan! If you look out of your window before going back to bed, you might see a beautiful sunrise!

Why not have a go at drawing or painting a sunrise or sunset today?
